ALMANAC AND DIARY.

SHORT METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS FOR THE WEEK.

July.

Monday, 16.—The Duncans in commotion over the question as to whether they shall receive the covered brethren and sisters, and salute them with a Holy Kiss. They have not yet come to a proper solution of this rebus.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Africa, with A. Cook for a Captain, arrived at Halifax yesterday with one hundred and forty passengers, and some late dates. Her passengers were of the healthiest, and the dates were the latest of any steamer yet.

The semi-official Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung has pronounced upon the number of foreigners being among them, but the foreigners have some difficulty in pronouncing upon the Zeitung, it being a thing they are not familiar with.

The Austrians have been completely hemmed in by the Prussian needle-gun. Italian stocks have advanced. They were on some Austrians during the advance of the Army.

The Emperor of the French proposes to take care of Venice, while Italy goes into the fight with Prussia about it. The King of Italy thanks Napoleon III, but does not wish "Venice preserved" among the Emperor's preserves.

The Po was so deep at Burgoforte that the Austrian army trains had to wait there until it was bridged. For two days it proved a deep Po of supplies for the Austrian troops.

General Bruhm, who was captured by the Bavarians, has been taken through several towns by a band of soldiers in want of money, singing "Oh! by of the wandering Bavarians a Bruhm." The soldiers were discovered and punished, but the joke was not.

In a series of engagements between the Prussians and Bavarians near Deombach, the Prussians captured eight positions and sent them to the rear.

The Austrian prisoners taken on the 3d amounted to 20,000. After the battle, the Austrians were withdrawn to Goebitz. It is to be expected, says the correspondent, that an army would go to bits after a defeat like that.

Advices from Japan, up to the time of the steamer's sailing, would not be likely to be followed by either of the contending parties, even if they knew what they were.

Paris letters were dull, and very poor accommodations at that. Another of Queen Victoria's daughters was married on the 5th. The Court Journal adds—"There are a few more left of the same sort."

WATCHING FOR A RIVE.

Mr. Series Editor:—I am a Waterman. No paper can be complete, or even tolerable now-a-days, that ignores the refreshing and hungry sport of Fishing.

You cannot expect to fulfill your mission, or to perform your duty to society, until you have six or eight columns on that subject every week. All the fellows in my Club, "The Sportmen's," say so too.

I take it for granted that all your readers know how to fish, but I will, nevertheless, give them some hints that may prove valuable.

You should be very careful in selecting a Rod. Different woods are requisite for different fish. Thus for Bass you want Bass-wood, of course; for Cat-fish you want Cat-brier. In some kinds of fishing, you require several sets of lines. This is not, however, the case with Perch; for Pole is always equal to a Perch.

You can fish for Trout, in almost any Brook you prefer. Perhaps one of the best places is the Nesbamny creek, opposite this place, in which you may fish day and day out without interruption—without having to change your Fly, although the Fly may change you, at least your appearance.

I have done some very successful Fly-Fishing in a bowl of boarding-house Soup, catching five or six in a minute with a common table-fork. It may not be inappropriate for me, before I close this letter, to give you a specimen of some of my

Fish Lines.

I. The Angler's life is a joyous one. He knows no cares nor sins; But bravely—he like some ancient Hun—Makes war upon the Fish.

II. He wanders off with pensive feet, Beside the brooklet's margin; And pulls up Little Fish to meet His expectations Large.

III. He sits upon the grassy Dyke, Or in his light canoe; The while his cork, Red-float-like, Is singing, "I'm a Floater!"

IV. And though no ocean creatures rise, To gratify his wish, Yet those who greet his longing eyes Are mostly Flying Fish.

V. The Turtles grab the line he wets— (They bite uncommon sharp); And if no better game he gets, He's liable to Corp.

VI. And when he comes his fish to weigh, His friends all gather round To scoff and jeer, and say that "A Good many weigh a Pound."

VII. And then they think 'tis monstrous fun To laugh and shout and scream, Because he says "the biggest one Fell back into the stream!"

VIII. But they who seek the Finny race, Must pace the meadow sod For many an hour of empty chase— 'Tis thus they kiss the Rod.

IX. And when grim Death, with icy hand, The Angler's end shall bring, The Worms will have their vengeance, and Get him upon a String!

Yours by Hook or by Crook, A. MULLETT.

Visit of the Committee of the City Councils to the mineral lands of the Boudinot Estate.

INSPECTING THE QUARTS FOUND THERE.

Body-Snatchers Aho!

What must we understand by this "adver." clipped from this morning's Ledger? Is this war between White and Black to be continued after death? For the purposes of anatomy are white bodies so much more desirable? Read this:—

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL WHITE Bodies in this city, selling low for 30 days, at Limerick's, No. 1318 Chestnut street.

We would ask if their value is impaired if they are sunburnt, and why is Beauty reckoned such a virtue in the case? It cannot mean that the bodies are alive! If so, talk no more of the honors of the "middle passage!" The most beautiful white bodies in the city selling low for 30 days! Does the dealer mean our note for 30 days?

"Only think of it, Then, if you can!"

THE EDITOR AT A WATERING PLACE.

Good News from Washington!

Many carpenter are complaining of the long session and little work done by the present Congress, but once and awhile they do an act which seems to silence all complainings. The following was with the report of yesterday's doings:—"Leave of absence was granted, on motion of Mr. Riddle, to Mr. Salsburg, of Delaware, for the remainder of the session."

Congress couldn't have spared a better man.

What a Fall was there, my Countrymen! A Troy negro recently fell from a third-story window to the pavement, and saved his life by striking his head first. He was a Troy water, and the pound he got on the head was light, as Troy weight allows but twelve ounces to the pound.

The Ball at Cape May. The Ball Season has commenced at Cape May. Last Thursday the Athletics and another nine had a game on the lawn in front of Congress Hall. The "short stoppers," after the game, were taken out of the decanters, and were not put in again.

A New War-saw in the Field. On the Austrian battle-fields they have a circular saw rigged up and driven by steam, for the purposes of amputation. This is Benedek's "circular" that was reckoned so cutting by the powers of Europe.

GENERAL SHERMAN has had a Degree conferred upon him by Dartmouth College. We hope it was not a degree of heat, as there are too many degrees of that kind about now.

THE WEST PHILADELPHIA PASSENGER RAILWAY COMPANY, OFFICE, NORTHWEST CORNER OF FORTY-FIRST AND HAVERFORD STREETS. PHILADELPHIA, July 19, 1866. The Board of Directors have this day declared a dividend of FIVE PER CENT. On the Capital Stock for the last six months, clear of all taxes payable on and after the 20th instant. The Books for the transfer of stock will be closed until that date.
